Promoting Sustainable Organic Agriculture

In keeping with our focus on the Laudato Si' Goals, two of our novices, Siteria and Vimbai have spent a week at Kasisi Center. Together with Sr. Margaret Masarakufa and some of our workers they studied ways to conserve the earth's resources and to grow productive crops without the use of chemicals.

Some of the topics covered were...use of natural plants as fertilizers and pest control in the cultivation of vegetables.

This course is part of our efforts to become more self-sustaining in covering our need for home-grown food. In addition, this emphasis on the education of ourselves and our workers addresses a number of the Laudato Si goals.

Vimbai and Siteria will share their newfound knowledge with the rest of the Area.
